

VALUING YOUR FILM & VIDEO HERITAGE

FREE SURGERIES AT WFA

Interested in preserving your old films, videos & photos and keeping them safe for future generations to enjoy and to reflect on all the different ways we have lived and how much we can learn from our histories

With the help of NW Film Archive, WFA has built the skills to undertake this video tape preservation process and we would like to share that experience with others wanting to preserve their media.

You may want to know what the best medium is to preserve various kinds of material, what storage life will it have, what equipment & precautions are required, what would the costs be if we do it for you.

Over the last 18 months WFA has been preserving a selection of the most important films it has made since 1979. All these films are on now outdated analogue video tape. 33 years have taken their toll intensifying the necessity to save these resources.

They are films about many events which get hidden in history – ordinary people finding their voice and showing the strength and value of their lives and actions in bringing about change to the benefit of the many and against the narrow interest of the few.

Compilations will be screened over 3 events at WFA in November 2011.
